INTRODUCTION

This Training Programme is the first product of MOB4APP project, co-financed by the European Commission under the Erasmus+ programme, KA202 – Strategic Partnerships - Development of Innovation for VET sector. The objective of IO1 “Training Programme” is to enable the acquisition of theoretical knowledge and practical skills for VET professionals for promoting cross-border long-term mobility of apprentices (LTMA).

Mobility of apprentices in Europe is important as apprentices gain independence; learn new skills (particularly soft skills) and foreign language skills through international work experience. The companies involved also benefit, as cultural exchange fosters creativity, reinforces the companies’ skills base and attracts international talent (EC, Mobility of Apprentices in Europe, Report, 2019).

Despite different European programmes are fostering European Mobility for apprentices, data collected in partner countries (Belgium, Spain, the Netherlands, Italy, Poland and Germany) show a need for improving the competences of the VET professionals in this field.

The Training Programme is the result of different work phases carried out by the partnership during the first 6 months (M0-6) and the Pilot Testing Phase (M18 and M19). The first phase included all the activities related to the creation of the Training Programme. The second phase consisted in the Training Programme finalisation.

During the first phase, two focus group sessions with at least 5 VET professionals/stakeholders have been carried out in each partner country in order to investigate on one hand their needs in terms of training methodologies, supporting materials and training tools and on the other hand, the knowledge, skills and competences they need for the implementation, awareness raising and support of cross-country mobility for apprentices. The national results collected have been elaborated and compared to produce the final Training Programme, based on the VET professionals profile and needs identified.

In the second phase, the Training Programme has been refined based on the feedback and evaluation received after the pilot testing.

Thus, the training programme consists of seven modules that relate to (1) recognition of needs and benefits for trainees and companies, (2) legal framework for LTMA (Long Term Mobility for Apprentices), (3) how the system works: procedures of implementation of cross-country mobility for apprentices, (4) how to manage long-term mobility for apprentices (5) financial and administrative issues, (6) practical mediation, intercultural communication and (7) promotion tools and strategies.

It is designed as a stand-alone document that can be used by trainers, organisations and any institution interested in organising a training course to increase interest in long-term mobility of apprentices.

The training programme has been organised in different sections, as follows:

- A background image showing a group of people in a modern office or co-working space. They are seated at a long wooden table, working on laptops. The scene is brightly lit, with large windows in the background. The people are wearing casual clothing, and the atmosphere appears to be collaborative and professional.
1. Overview of the training programme (Title, Certificate, Duration, Main goals, Trainee profile, Structure of the modules, Assignments and Assessment).
  2. Description of the seven training modules that are: Module 1 - What are the benefits, Module 2 – What is a legal framework, Module 3 – How the system works, Module 4 – How to manage long-term mobility for apprentices, Module 5 – Administrative and financial procedures, Module 6 - How to mediate and communicate effectively externally and internally and Module 7 – How to promote.
  3. Conclusion about the importance of implementing, managing, promoting and supporting long-term mobility for apprentices (LTMA).

OVERVIEW

Title of the course: Becoming Long Term Cross-border Mobility for Apprentices Expert and Ambassador (Becoming LTMA Expert and Ambassador)

Certificate received: The participants who complete the course will receive the title of “MOB4APP Ambassador” and “MOB4APP Expert”.

Duration, workload, level of competence, number of credits: 32 hours in contact, 36 hours of individual work, 8 hours of group activity (project, networking), 76 hours workload, 7 EQF level, 5 ECVET (credits)

Prerequisites: Minimum one-year experience in apprentices’ management/promotion; or vocational training organization; or educational mobility assistance; or vocational counselling.

Main goals of the course

The main goal of the 32-hours modularised training programme is to improve VET professionals’ proficiency in implementing, managing, promoting and supporting long-term mobility for apprentices.

The training programme, following the ECVET, EQF and EQAVET standards provides the functional acquisition of knowledge, skills and competences necessary to promote, guide, assist, facilitate and assess effective apprenticeship experiences abroad.

Use of up to date, innovative learning methodologies, tools and contents on apprenticeship mobility (based on academic research) and broad application of practical exercises and case studies during the training programme ensures the full implementation of cross-country experiences for apprentices.

The training programme is available in six languages: Dutch, English, German, Italian, Polish, and Spanish. The training programme, with the support of the MOB4APP National Reference Points, will be easily replicated in different contexts and types of organisations. The use of digital course badges (“MOB4APP Ambassador” badge and “MOB4APP Expert” badge) will foster visibility and will increase the adoption of these practices.

Trainee (alumnae) profile

After the training, the trainee will acquire professional knowledge, competences and skills that can be quickly verified and used in practice.

The participant will be aware and familiar with the recognition of needs, qualifications and benefits for all involved in the LTMA. Theoretical knowledge of the definition of the legal framework of long-term mobility for apprentices and its legal regulations will provide a solid basis for further activities related to the LTMA at local and national level. He/she will be equipped with tools, case studies, ready-made analyses and statements. The alumnae will know how to effectively use the system, knowing how to operate within it. He/she will be able to apply the acquired leadership skills in planning, organisation and monitoring of the whole process. He/she will know what kind of support is expected from him/her by all the stakeholders and with which challenges he/she can be confronted and how to solve them using the competences acquired during the training. The trainee will be aware of the importance of effective communication in professional life. He/she will be empowered with concrete strategies, which are responsible for success in interpersonal relationships and conflict solving. Through acquired mediation and negotiation techniques, the participant will be an adequate support for all parties.

The participant will be able to apply the acquired marketing techniques and strategies in his/her own activities to promote LTMA. Additional practical skills to deal more effectively with social media channels and produce their own promotional material will be used for improving the apprentices' participation in long-term mobility projects.

CONCLUSION

In many countries of the European Union, long-term mobility of apprenticeship is not realised on a large scale. Among the potential recipients and beneficiaries of apprentices, there is often a lack of knowledge and information related to the implementation and organization of trips within the scope of apprentices.

By developing this course, we wanted to reach out to people who are professionally involved in internships abroad and can influence their scope and type in given environments and communities.

It is hoped that through the wide range of topics covered in the modules, the diverse methods and techniques used in the teaching, and the possibility of exchanging experiences at European level, interest in long-term mobility for apprenticeships will increase.

Participation in apprentices and placements abroad is associated with numerous benefits for the participant, the sending institution as well as the host institution; therefore, the promotion of this type of activity for employees and apprentices is an important element of the European labour market.
